

This weekend June 22 & 23rd

Posted by estapete - 17 Jun 2013 19:54

Well we will try once again to do a Test & Tune day this Saturday along with the swap meet, maybe the third time will be the charm. Sunday will be The Pro MX Showdown with guaranteed top payout to the winner as well a points day for all of our weekly classes. Let's hope for some sunny weather.

I was out at the track tonight and I think we should be ok for 1/4 mile racing at least for Saturday. I have an idea that might work for Sunday if the water will not recede any further but I won't know until I try it out. See you this weekend.

As of tonight the end of the track is clear but the turn around pad is under water. The return road has water on it in one spot but not very deep at all. We usually don't get the large turnout of dragsters on saturday's that is why we can run 1/4 mile. If the turn around pad condition does not improve tomorrow we'll run 1/8 on Sunday. I left a pump running tonight and I'll see how it works.
