Is there a tie-breaker system in place for this season? I don't like the Co-Champion branding that has been happening frequently over the past few season. Ultimately, one driver better than the others in some way and should be rewarded for that.

In lieu of a run-off opportunity, the first tie-breaker should be who won more final rounds in that class, 2.) final round appearance?

Just my opinion, but in the words of the immortal Highlander, "There can be only one!"

See rule #27 for any ties.
