

Next weekend 7/13 & 7/14

What a season this has been if I can call it a season. After having the place in somewhat decent shape we get nailed with an overnight soaking that completely flooded us out once again. All we can do is to keep trying and that's what we'll do next week. On Saturday July 13th we will open up for a time trial event and on Sunday the 14th we will try to complete the Pro MX Showdown, Street Showdown and the Pro Showdown, which is being sponsored by Affordable Carpets & Affordable Shipping. The Susan G. Komen Charity Race originally scheduled for July 14th has been rescheduled for Sunday Aug. 18th. Everybody ask for Mother Nature to cut us some slack and we'll see you next week. I hope.

Hey Pete...

Wonder if there is any state or federal flood money available for esta like other business/residences?

maybe worth looking into?

Pete, are other tracks in Div 1 having the same problem? Was wondering if you had contact with other tracks.

Would it be received well by the drivers to have some Sat & Sun point races? Instead a TT run a point race. I understand some won't be able to race Sat., just a thought.

My prediction: An ESTA racer or two is going to win Bracket Final titles this year with less than 10 completed races! Prayers sent. Gotta go, lightning moving into the area. Small wonder.

We would probably come out for a Saturday race. Why not?

I really think, if it's possible Sat. and Sun. races of any kind would work.

If they can run test and tune I am sure they can run eliminations on Saturdays. Maybe its staff they lack?? Heck I would just take a mostly cloudy zero rain Sunday race day at this point.

its just the insurance , if they charge normal race fee's on sat they can race for points , from what I was told , but they have to have test and tunes available from rain outs wich they have , but this season realy does stink 😊
